

Officers Are Selected To Hold General Election On Next Tuesday, Nov. 8th

Coffee County voters will have the opportunity of going to the polls again next Tuesday, November 8, for the purpose of formally electing their State, district and county officers. Officers to be elected are those nominated in primaries held in the early summer, and so far as Coffee County is concerned the Democratic ticket will carry by overwhelming vote. Republicans in the State have candidates for all State offices, and there are always a few Republican voters in the county. Under the head of "Independent," there are two candidates on the ballot running for Governor, but these are hardly expected to accumulate any votes.

Voters will have the privilege of voting on two proposed constitutional amendments next Tuesday also. Below we are giving a list of officers who will carry the election in the several voting places:

Gasoline Tax Diversion To Be Decided Tuesday

On next Tuesday, November 8, the general election will be held in Alabama, and the nation for that matter, ratifying in Alabama the nonissue selected in the Spring primaries.

Also, at the election on the 8th, two amendments to the Constitution are up for ratification or rejection. Amendment No. 1 would forever bar the diversion of gasoline taxes and it is around this amendment that some serious last-minute opposition has developed.

Much misleading information has been put out as to the operation of the law under approval of Amendment No. 1, so we take opportunity to quote Alex C. Montgomery, vice-president of the Alabama Motorists Association, as to the operation of Amendment No. 1 in the event of its approval by the voters. Here is the statement by Mr. Montgomery:

"Alex C. Montgomery, vice-president of the Alabama Motorists Association, today released a statement to correct wrong impressions circulating concerning Amendment No. 1 to be voted on at the General Election November 8, requiring highway funds to be spent exclusively for road and bridge purposes."

"He said that rumors were being circulated to the effect that the Amendment would change the present distribution of gasoline tax revenues. This he stated, is entirely wrong. The Amendment does NOT change the present distribution, nor does it prevent future additional allocations to counties. It merely requires that all revenue derived from the gasoline, oil and tag taxes to be used for road and bridge purposes."

"The counties will continue to get their present shares of the gasoline and bridge taxes, but must continue to use it for road purposes."

"He also branded as untrue the statement that the Amendment would cause increases in property taxes, pointing out that in fact the gasoline tax used for road purposes will result in a decrease in the property taxes. The gasoline tax has been the largest single factor in the history of this country in reducing the property and ad valorem taxes. Mr. Montgomery said:

"He pointed out that he himself is a hostess at a very attractive salad plate with tea. Two clinics are held at each of the places named during the year, and the welfare agencies in the county do not have any available funds for transportation."

WIREGRASS PASTORS HAVE MEETING HERE MON.
Twenty-seven ministers, thirty-five Sunday School teachers and a number of other visitors, representing five associations and two Baptist institutions were in attendance at the Wiregrass Pastor's Study held at the Elba Baptist Church Monday.

This is pronounced as one of the most instructive and helpful main points of the operation of the law in a clear and concise manner.

We believe that the voters should ratify the law, as well as Amendment No. 2, which is purely local in character.

GINNINGS FALL SHORT
Cotton ginnings in the county for 1938 in 18 report show a decided decrease over the same period last year, although on the first two or three reports this season they were far ahead of last year. The report just released by J. L. Hubbard, census bureau agent, shows that there were 17,355 bales ginned prior to October 18th as compared with 22,789 bales ginned to the same date last year.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY.
To foreign mills. If we sell to other countries, we must buy their goods. Before 1930, the tariff restricted our foreign trade but the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act that year literally destroyed it.

By passage of the Smoot-Hawley Act, we limited sales of foreign goods to consumers in the United States. Since foreign buyers could not sell us goods, they could not obtain dollars for use in buying our cotton. About the time the 1930 tariff act was passed, another thing happened which made a decline in our exports certain. After the World War, we sent huge sums of money to foreign borrowers and this money was used to buy our cotton and other exports.

Foreign indebtedness to the United States, exclusive of war debts, increased from $4,500,000,000 in 1920 to $9,600,000,000 in 1930. Then we quit lending money abroad. Two sources of American dollars to foreign buyers were thus entailed. We closed the gate and nailed a bar across it. The certainty resulted—foreign buyers took less of our cotton and other commodities. Our total exports shrank from $3,157,000,000 in 1929 to $1,647,000,000 in 1933.

The foreign trade, financial, debt and credit policies of the United States is today one of the most vital factors in the welfare of southern farmers and a subject on which they should be thoroughly familiar so that they would not be misled by advocates of a proposed farm plan that violates all sound thought with regard to foreign cotton sales, and betterment of living standards at home.

A number of members made brief statements endorsing the scout movement following an address by Mr. E. R. Stevens, Scout Executive of the Southeast Alabama Council.

Mr. Stevens very briefly outlined the aims and purposes of scouting and also told of the organization's activities in this section of the State. In the nine counties comprising the Southeast Alabama Council, there are 21 troops with a membership of 515 boys.

Following Mr. Stevens' talk and the discussion, a committee was named to take over the organization's work here. That committee met and a permanent Executive Committee with the following officers was named:

The committee has called a meeting at the City Hall Thursday afternoon (today) at 3:30 o'clock, at which time it is hoped to have present all boys in Elba between the ages of 12 and 16 years who are interested in scouting.

The next meeting of the executive committee will be held on Thursday, November 17, at 6:30 in the City Hall here.

The Chamber of Commerce will also sponsor another most worthy cause during the coming year, this being the transportation of crippled children to clinics to be held in Dothan, Anniston and Troy.

Two clinics are held at each of the places named during the year, and the welfare agencies in the county do not have any available funds for transportation."
